

Grant is in his second career now as a property developer and management consultant after a substantial and successful career in the Corporate Sales Industry

Having risen high quickly in his new Career Grant wanted to 'give back' and formed his own wealth mentoring program.

Grant has used his own pension to lend money to his business and accelerate the business growth and expand into new areas. Grant has also been a keen proponent of alternative bridging finance and has on many occasions used Pension lending to finance projects in his trading business.

As a serial entrepreneur Grant has made a mantra out of both 'be your own bank' and steadfastly utilising his own skill set whilst delegating other tasks out to capable others.